11.10am

Keynote: At the Edge of Medicine – Foundations, experience and the horizons of practice

The early years of medicine shape clinical judgment, professional confidence, and future career possibilities. Drawing on lessons from critical care, regional and tropical practice, and work at the frontiers of medicine, this session will reflect on why the basics still matter, how experience develops good doctors, and how practising beyond the city, and one's comfort zones, can open unexpected horizons for service, growth and discovery.

- ▶ Assoc Prof Eamon Raith – JCU Mackay Ngudya Yamba Clinical School, Department of Intensive Care Services, Mackay HHS

11.35am

Panel session: Wellbeing

Medicine is a rewarding career, but it also comes with unique challenges at every stage of training. Join a candid discussion with panelists as they share their experiences, practical strategies for maintaining wellbeing, and insights into navigating the pressures of study, training and clinical practice. This interactive session will explore resilience, work-life balance, mental health, and where to seek support throughout your medical career.

- ▶ Dr Emma Hodge – Panel host
- ▶ Rachael Payne – Medical student
- ▶ Dr Bill Jarrett – Mackay HHS Junior House Officer
- ▶ Dr Marishka Shah – Mackay HHS Psychiatry PHO
- ▶ Dr Yoon Kwon Choi – Mackay HHS Psychiatry AT

Breakout sessions 25 minutes each (5 minutes in between to change rooms)

▶ Break out session one: 1.25pm – 1.50pm

▶ Breakout session two: 1.55pm – 2.20pm

Topic one: Cutcher & Neale

– From scrubs to success: Smart money moves early career doctors can't afford to ignore

▶ Room 1 – Marquee (100+ pax)

▶ Cutcher & Neale: Sav Angi and Shannon Davies

Starting your medical career comes with new financial opportunities and potential pitfalls. This practical session will help you understand the essentials of tax, superannuation, debt and budgeting, while highlighting the most common financial mistakes junior doctors make and how to avoid them. Walk away with simple, actionable strategies to build strong financial habits, reduce stress and set yourself up for long-term success.

Learning outcomes:

- ▶ The early-career money traps: The common financial mistakes junior doctors make (and how to avoid them).
- ▶ Your first pay cheque decoded: Understanding tax, super and allowances so you're not leaving money on the table.
- ▶ Super basics that actually matter: What to focus on now, and what can wait.
- ▶ Good debt vs bad debt: How to think about HECS, cars and property without derailing your future.
- ▶ Building smart habits early: Simple systems that make managing money easier as your career grows

Topic two: Voluntary Assisted Dying – What doctors need to know

▶ Room 2 – Marina View (80 pax)

▶ Queensland Voluntary Assisted Dying Support and Pharmacy Service: Dr Max Ryder

As Voluntary Assisted Dying becomes an increasingly important part of healthcare in Queensland, it is essential for future doctors to understand the legal, ethical and clinical considerations involved. Designed for medical students and junior doctors, this session will provide an overview of the legislation, the role of healthcare professionals, and what to expect when caring for patients who may enquire about or access Voluntary Assisted Dying. Gain practical insights to help you navigate this complex and evolving area of medical practice with confidence and professionalism.

Learning outcomes:

- ▶ Understanding of legal responsibilities as a doctor
- ▶ Understanding how to respond to a person asking about VAD
- ▶ Know how to refer a patient who is asking for VAD

Topic three: Research program presentations

▶ Room 3 – Captain's Table (40 pax)

▶ Judges: Dr Yoon Kwon Choi, Dr Emma Hodge and Assoc Prof Eamon Raith

The 2026 AMA Queensland Mackay Junior Doctor Committee has given attendees a valuable opportunity to present their research in a challenging and exciting forum. This helps strengthen their CV for specialty training applications, gain experience in presenting research and develop desirable leadership skills. If you are a finalist or would like to cheer on your peers, come to the Captain's Table.

► Conference day two: Sunday, 26 July

6.15am – 2.15pm

Option 1 (10 people only): The Sky Is No Longer the Limit

- Gilmour Space Technologies – Bowen Orbital Site
- Hosts: Assoc Prof Eamon Raith – JCU Mackay Ngudya Yamba Clinical School, Department of Intensive Care Services, Mackay Hospital and Health Service and Dr Udani Liyanage – AMA Queensland Committee of Doctors in Training

Step into Australia’s rapidly emerging space industry with an exclusive behind-the-scenes visit to Gilmour Space Technologies’ Bowen Orbital Spaceport. This immersive experience offers a rare opportunity to explore a live commercial launch site and gain insight into the operational, safety-critical, and human performance challenges of spaceflight.

Guided by industry experts, participants will learn about launch infrastructure, mission control operations, and risk management in extreme environments, while exploring the growing intersection between space operations and space medicine.

Discover how principles such as fatigue management, radiation exposure, remote medicine, and emergency response translate directly to regional and rural healthcare, and consider the future role of Mackay as a hub for space-related medical training, research, and workforce development.

Learning outcomes:

- Gain insight into Australia’s commercial space launch capability.
- Understand operational aspects of a launch site, including safety critical environments.
- Explore emerging intersections between space operations and space medicine, with relevance to Mackay and regional health workforce development
- Applicants must submit a written response to the question below as part of the application process

Written application question

How could principles or challenges from space medicine (such as human performance in extreme environments, remote healthcare delivery, or risk management) inform future medical research, training, or healthcare delivery in regional and rural Australia?

Complete application form by 10 July:
